The benefits of this wonderful invention Increase every year of itstrial. There are no dangers atlending its use, but real pleasure as well as profit in its results, Indeed, it seems to realize the power of good fairies, such as children love and believe in—their elders often regret that they have outlived this pleasant failing inventions. The sewing machine comes into the heart of home; it helps in the domestic circle; it has an important infinence on family comfort and social happiness. No wonder that good men are willing to sound its praises, that poets, orators, divines, philosophers and economists have descanted upon its bearings on social interests and the destiny of woman. It is worthy of this praise. This household-helper—such a one as comes from the manufactory of Wheeler & Wilson, in the perfectness of finish and performance of all kinds and varieties of stitching—is the queen of sewing machines, which we wish could be introduced into every home where women are found.
